

SUE SEISLER

Sue began volunteering at Maryland Therapeutic Riding, near Annapolis, MD, in 2006. Two years later, she received her NARHA certification. A job transfer brought Sue and her family to Pennsylvania, where it was imperative to her they relocate near a NARHA facility so she could continue teaching.

"Volunteering has given me a joy and sense of purpose that is sometimes missing from my day job. It is magical to witness the unconditional acceptance and connection between student and horse." Sue feels blessed to be a part of the amazing team at Triangle.

Sue resides in Mohnton with her husband, Randy, and has a son and granddaughter.
